

Imagine you are walking to school. You hear your phone ring. You check it and then Boom. you just got hit because you walked out in front of a car. texting while walking should not be illegal. There is a app on phones to prevent injuries. public awareness campaigns can also be used to warn distracted walkers.

Texting while walking shouldn't be illegal because there is a app on phones to warn distracted walkers. Engineers at rutgers university are working on a app that would flash a warning to look up when you are near a crosswalk.

Texting while walking should not be illegal because public awareness can be used to warn distracted walkers. LaPD launched a public awareness campaign about the hazards of distracted walking.

Even though 11,000 people were injured or hurt. People just need to use common sense so they don't get injured. In conclusion texting while walking should not be illegal. There are apps on phones to prevent injuries. Public awareness campaigns can also be used to warn distracted walkers.